

HUMAN TRAFFICKING EDUCATIONAL SEMINAR FOR HEALTH CARE PROVIDERS

SPEAKER: ELIZABETH GADIOLI
CHIEF PROBATION OFFICER
41-A District Court of the State of Michigan

Officer Gadioli graduated from Michigan State University in 2004 with dual degrees in Psychology and Social Relations. She began working in the criminal justice field right away, interning with the specialty Felony Drug Court in Macomb County and then accepting a job at the Macomb County Jail in offender counseling and rehabilitation. Ms. Gadioli was able to work side by side with probation programs focused on reducing substance abuse, domestic violence, and prostitution in the city. In 2012, Ms. Gadioli accepted a position working for the 41-A District Court Probation Department, which supervises misdemeanor probation cases from four separate communities.

COURSE DESCRIPTION:

Everyone has heard something about human trafficking. Whether it's through social media postings, movies, or even segments on the local news, human trafficking awareness is on the rise. But many people still don't know what human trafficking is, nor do they really know how it applies to their lives – both professionally and personally. Through the latest research and reports, as well as personal anecdotes, this lecture will help to provide a clear definition of human trafficking, address key points in the fight against it, and provide a clear idea of how it applies in medical and dental office setting.
